

Case Study – Executive and Plant Level Recruitment

Rapidly growing, new food company needed to quickly and efficiently fill numerous positions to build a team at both the executive and plant level.

The Challenge: The company's increase in market share alongside the opening of a $24 million production and distribution center, a relocation of the corporate headquarters and a recent merger, has warranted the need for a partner company to assist the client with their human capital requirements.

The Solution:

- The relationship began in 2006 when the client's CEO reached out to Judge's permanent placement division to fill its first need of a production planner. Upon completing the search, Judge successfully placed a qualified local candidate within the client's allocated timeframe.
- As the client continued to grow at a fast pace, The Judge Group also continued to fill numerous priority permanent placement positions at the plant and executive office level. Currently, The Judge Group has successfully provided qualified candidates placed into the roles of Controller, Production Supervisor, Production Control Manager, Quality Assurance Manager, Human Resource Manager, Plant Manager and other requested positions.

The Result: As a premier provider of permanent placement staffing, The Judge Group utilized its nationwide team of food & beverage recruiters to provide the client with qualified professionals to successfully fulfill their hiring requirements. The Judge Group continues to respond with success to the client's ongoing staffing needs.
